Archangels Metatron & Uriel Speak:

Hello Beloved beings of the One light. It is a beautiful presence to be here with you. From a golden emanation of rays of many worlds we come forward to you with the gift of Divine re-cognition of a heritage, of an understanding, and a place of re-cognition that has caused for you many times what many of you may call scars.

The Universal Scar

These scars indeed are scars of re-cognition, and many wear these scars as a badge of honor. Many understand that the scar that they carry within is yet but an understanding of a greater purpose, and in the greater purpose of being often times when must uncover a scar, and the scar may feel as if it is painful.

Yet, the scar itself is asking for you to heal it, to understand.

Many of you know us under many names. However the energy and the name that we offer you as we move forward today comes from the ray that carries what you know as the Metatron/Uriel energy.

Your crown awakens with a great golden vibration. And the great golden vibration of this ray of light offers you now a connection through a rainbow portal of Divine energy. In this rainbow portal of Divine energy, the scar is found.

You see beloved ones, when you take the light of Divine knowing, of absolute and resolute understanding of the condition as they say of forgiveness into your heart, then from there the scar or the wound that appears is the foundational wound of all beings of light and you recognize that it is not yours alone to carry. You recognize it is not you. It is a unifier.

It is a recognition that at the foundation of the great beings of all that is and all that has ever been, you have fundamentally carried with your Divine agreement this scar on behalf of all.

For many of you, as the individual expression of Divine light you have spent your life manifesting, experiencing, playing, dancing, and trying to understand why this scar exists.

Each carries this scar in a different place and each manifests it in their own time as part of the Divine presence of being.

The Manifest Energies

How you manifest this wound in the energy of this world is also how you heal the wound. Why do we come to share with you about this? Why do we share this with you today? Because you are at the time of the healing of the foundational wound. You are at the time of recognition that there is no wound to carry.

This scar is only a transient energy that appears when you are in the energy of separation, doubt, fear, and density. As you move through this world now, many are indeed acting out the foundational wound or scar in big ways. And yet this wound, this scar, has offered itself in three distinct energies that have manifested very carefully.

We shall give you much information as to this definition of carefully, because beloved ones it is your time to be without any wound, without any scar, to fully claim:

I Am ready to fully embrace a joyous understanding of freedom.

To be Free, you must Be.

You cannot be free if you are carrying the wound of the Divine heart. In this world, the three energies that have come forward, the energies of this world that are all aspects of the same scar or the same wound, begin with poverty.

Poverty

Poverty is a great expression of the wound. Let us talk about poverty. When we first offer you the word, (poverty), for many of you your first thought is financial poverty, is it not?

This poverty is beyond that beloved ones. We are offering to you the understanding that poverty in its absolute poorest form is about money. The poverty energy as an expression of the Divine scar is in the poverty of the denial of your own recognition that you are in the presence of the Divine all-ways. It is within you, around you, YOU.

You are Divine presence, all-ways.

If you deny yourself this, then poverty manifests in many ways. To be impoverished means that you have denied yourself the richness of understanding this, (your Divine presence). You are the richness of love, the richness of connection, the richness of being.

In the richness of the one love that you are, there cannot be a wound, there cannot be a scar. In the mind energy of your world, the mind energy seeks to keep you in poverty. This is because the mind energy keeps you in poverty as its means of control. When the mind is in great control, you will indeed push away from any form of connected richness.

This is not the richness that is about the harvesting of gold from your planet. It is the richness and the embrace of the Divine. It is finding the lover within, the all-ness of everything, every energy, every experience. If you wish to heal the Divine wound carried within, then you must look at where in your life you are still in poverty, and remove the one definition of poverty, (financial).

Money, beloved children, is forever abundant, and it is not the issue, it is merely a side effect. When you claim your nature without poverty it is because you are dancing with the Divine all-ways. As you dance with your divinity you become the Krishna, you become the Allah, you become the God and Goddess, you become the Divine because you are the universal love of all-ness.

The mind will seek to keep you impoverished, all the time challenging your knowing:
Who I am to accept this? Who am I to know this?

Who are you not to know this?

You are a being of Divine love so much that you have carried this wound on behalf of an entire ray of light. You have separated many times, you have gone from the one, to the four, to the twelve and beyond as your souls have fragmented, and in a time of great reunification it is time to look within.

Integrity

The second energy of the time, beyond the energy of poverty, is the energy of integrity. This is the next energy. Are you in integrity with yourself or are you in denial with yourself?

In order to answer that question beloved ones, your mind cannot be engaged, for your mind will want to seek to offer you an answer that comforts the ego. So when you hear the question about integrity with yourself you must go to your heart, for the energies that seek to keep this wound alive in you, the energy of poverty and the energy of integrity are very powerful energies.

The energy of integrity allows your “self” to transcend mind energy. The mind energy seeks to offer you a story, information that replays over and over like a movie within the brain. This movie carries with it pieces of your own energy and pieces of galactic energy. This movie plays frequently and seeks to offer to your mind reassurance that it is OK to doubt, that it is OK to be upset, that it is OK to enter into emotional fits of energy that only continue to expand the scar.

Anger, beloved children, is a scarring energy. When you experience anger you are out of integrity with your truth. When you experience Divine fear of who you are, you are not in integrity with your truth.

This is a wonderful gift, for when it happens, you are being given the opportunity to re-cognize the truth of your own integrity. In the truth of your own integrity it will call you into Divine recognition that you are healing. (on many levels)

Beloved ones, on your bodies when you have a cut does it not hurt? And as that cut heals does the scar not itch? Can you imagine how itchy the eternal scar must be?

It is calling you! Scratch me, scratch me. Your anger scratches it. Your frustration scratches it. Your fear scratches it. Understand from the purpose of the body, if we are to use this example, that when you scratch a wound it reopens it again. Better to put salve on the wound and relieve the itching, than to scratch it again and again and again.

The salve that you have readily and abundantly available is the forgiveness found within your own heart of your own of being in this world. It is the greatest abundant loving salve. Imagine a big tube of it next to you. And as you have an eternal tube that is filled with self-forgiveness, the salve that will heal the itch of the wound that seeks to pull you out of integrity with your Divine presence, we encourage you to apply liberally.

Apply liberally the salve of self-forgiveness, the loving recognition that you are perfect. Even the expression of anger which has distributed throughout your expression of frustration or fear that may have been projected toward another. If you, beloved ones, in that moment of recognition, claim your own self-forgiveness, then you are free. You are free!

Knowing that you have the ability to be free in every moment, what would you not do to claim that, to be that?

Separation

Which is stronger within thee, the itch or the salve? It is your choice. And so, of these energies, the poverty, the integrity, it is important to understand that as you move through these issues it brings you to the third. And the third energy is the energy of separation.

Poverty, integrity, and separation, these three energies come forth to you as part of a universal scar, and then allow themselves to manifest individuated in this world according to your agreement to play with them.

Separation, beloveds, is one that is a dance for you, because it is in your galactic agreements, in your universal oneness and as light expanding and expressing it is of course the Individ-u-will that has come forth here and so there is a mis-perception that this is separation.

It is the remembrance of the Individ-u-will expression of oneness that can be the salve you apply to the energy of separation.

It is the energy of separation that has come forth in your world so greatly that worlds have become countries, have become states, have become cities, have become me and you. It is simply a misdirection of an energy of celebrated individuation of the one light.

You see, beloved beings, in the recognition that separation is a wound and that the individualization of light is a gift, you can begin to come together within your own heart again.

Healing the Wound

Would you enjoy touching this wound? For we invite you to do so. Not from the perspective of pain, from the perspective of the joyous recognition, from the Aha moment that you have not been carrying a wound that is yours alone.

You are part of a great gift and you are ready now to decide how you will continue with that gift.

You will find that the tip of this scar for all beings exists in the physical heart. So bring one hand over your heart center, the physical heart at the side of the chest, yes. Take a moment and breathe there. Many feel an immediate opportunity in this connection. It could be pain, or tension or pressure, it could be a ray of light, it does not matter, for the tip of the wound is there.

Now ask, and you may wish to close your eyes:

Beloved light I command thee now, come forward and show me where does the scar end? Your hand is on one part, where is the other? Ask!

Put your hand there if you can. If it ends outside of you as for some of you it does, then just raise your hand up. Where is this scar? Feel that ray, feel that energy, and in the recognition that poverty, integrity, and separation are demonstrating themselves as illusionary manifestations that have simply been misunderstood, they are yours to now release and are able to be released on behalf of an entire universe.

Command for yourself the light of the Divine connection to seek, find, be, and clear you. And as you do, understand that you are holding this space for many.

Ask: How many am I holding this space for? How many right now am I holding this space for? Trust the answer, do not deny. For the answer may be much larger than you were aware of, and it may be smaller than you thought, it does not matter.

Breathe beloved ones. Relax. If you wish to truly relieve, heal, and release this universal scar, you must for 14 days in a row call yourself to it. Pay attention to the poverty in your life, pay attention to the integrity in your life, pay attention very importantly to the separation in your life and allow yourself to see and touch often that Divine tube of self-forgiveness and apply liberally. And when you find that you are indeed itching that wound of separation, gift yourself again with clarity.

Freedom is Now

Beloved Ones, there are many portals of light that have now opened in this world. There are many energies that are gridding together, and there are many beloved teachers. Each of you has already activated your beloved teacher presence. You are the teacher.

Can you first teach yourself to be in Divine presence all-ways?
Can you continue to greet all without your own opinion of greeting?

Can you simply meet each other in Divine recognition of Divine being present with presence?

Healing all wounds you are Free.
And you are Free in All-ways!

And so it is dear ones, you are at a great and powerful time. As it unfolds ever more, you will find yourselves being asked often to make a choice. It is not about making the choice once, it is about consistently making the choice of staying in your own recognition.

Pay attention to your emotional bodies for indeed they will be the most receptive to the changes that are occurring, and know that you are in Divine Re-cognition All-ways!
And so it is.
