*Delivered LIVE via worldwide web-cast from

The Essene Brethren Speak:

Yes. Hello! Beloved Angels of Great Light, in a world of great light, we say hello to you.

The Universal Healing Moment

There is a great healing moment that is before the entire universal channels of Divine Illumination now.

This great healing moment is, indeed, a fluid moment.

Many may say: “When is the moment; tell me this moment; offer me a day, a time, a place, a way of being.” And what we say to you is: In this Divine moment, there is, indeed, fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity. Fluidity.

SRI & KIRA

DIVINE ILLUMINATIONS: A SERIES OF TIMELESS ESS-SEE-NAH REVELATIONS

We share this because there is great motion. There is great motion and momentum that must come forward now, and in this motion and momentum that must come forward now, fluidity in the moment is a great and important and glorious thing.

(Note: At this moment a fly has flown into Kira Raa's eye...you will see this on the video of this message)

There is, indeed, Sri Ram Kaa, an interference energy here, and it is a great interference energy that is controlling this body. Thank you. (Sri Ram Kaa has just assisted the fly to leave Kira's eye.)

What is Interference?

This great interference energy is symbolic, and indeed, in great perfection, because in the moment that is the healing moment, all interference will come forward with great power, and the interference will find itself coming forward in many ways and in all areas.

And many will say: "But can I not be protected? Can I not shower down whatever is needed to stop this interference?"

And we say:

Beloved Ones, because the healing opportunity is here, the interference must be present within, or it would not the healing opportunity, would it?

Let your minds relax a moment, and let us share this with you. This is why the tangible gift of seeing interference is so important. One might say: "Is not the word interference in and of itself a judgment?"

And we say to thee:

Interference is not a judgment. Interference is an antithesis of healing.

To heal, one must be able to discern.
To discern, one must be able to hold presence.
To hold presence, one must be able to drop what you call ego...Ego...Ego.

For most interference is an ego-centered construction of a whirlpool of mind activity that is seeking an answer and trying to make sense of a world around it.

This is important!

For when you understand what interference truly is, you then understand that there could never be protection.

Redefining Protection: Self-IS-ness

Protection comes when you allow yourself to relax, when you allow your self-is-ness -- not selfishness, Self-IS-Ness. When you allow yourself Self-IS-ness to simply unwind.

Not rewind, unwind.

Be in the pure sacred knowing, knowledge and trusting presence of the Divine working through thee in all aspects.

What is Healing

Healing is not physical.
Healing is not emotional.
Healing is not spiritual.

And so you say to us: "What could it possibly be if it is not any of these?"
We simply say:

Healing is the opposite construction of the interference that is generated by the ego presence of a mind, body and spirit in density.

Thereby, in the moment of the Divine release into the presence of your own illuminated beingness, the wholeness restores.

And it transcends a body.

It transcends a mind.

And it transcends the spirit from the density understanding and perception of the definition of what FELT spirit is.

Now, take a deep breath. Yes. Yes. Yes.

Exploring Fluid Time

For we seek to come to you through the cavalcade of the great illuminated and universal worm hole energy and we choose this word very carefully, worm hole energy, because it is one that your mind of this world can understand.

When we offer to you the word "worm hole," what do you picture? Do you see perhaps in a fluid, fluid moment, a continuum of energy that your mind could see or perceive as a worm hole. Does this visual come to you, and if so, this is good. Because as this visual comes to you, there is the recognition that all time is transcendent, that there is no time.

Therefore, a moment is always fluid.

And this is why the moment, the great moment of healing, is upon thee now!
It is also part of the journey through, and with, and as transcendent experience of time in form; that a moment can come forward and yet it can stretch, and it can change, and it can simply stay still.

Messages and Messengers

Many will say there have been many great, you would use word prophets or prophecies or predictions, or people, or those who are known that have offered great things on the planet to come forward at great times.

And you ask. Some are right, some are not right, but yet some were right on so many other things and yet they are not right on these things.

Beloved Angels, all are right in the fluidness of all moments, and all are simply reminders of a journey that ignites within thyself thy loving presence, thy illuminated being, the fullness, the recognition, the expansion of what your soul knows is true.

Oftentimes the messages are confused with messengers, and the messengers are confused with messages.

And so YOU, Divine Beloved, are your messenger, and you are the message.
We say this again. You are the messenger, and you are the message!

Every action, experience, and recognition of the density body, mind, and soul through the illuminated body, mind, and soul, are on a journey of healing through an understanding of interference becoming the prophecy.

What is the sum total of your prophecy within the energy of your own divine being? Because it is within you now, it has always been. It simply cannot not be.

Breathe again.

The Fabrication of Your Creative Power

To further fabricate a human existence is a powerfully creative existence; is it not?

You fabricate your life, you fabricate your body constantly.

You fabricate your friends, where you live, who you are, what you do, how you act, what you say, what you look like, what you wear.

You are great fabricators, and you are great co-creators.

To fabricate together creates what we will call a quilt. The reason we call this the quilt, is if you were to think of the little patchwork squares each made by an individual who come together in great harmony and say, Sew together these squares, and all of the squares each uniquely different, when put together into the one quilt, become quite beautiful; do they not? And it becomes a labor, as many say, of love; does it not?

To create the quilt of the divine human fabrication is more than the individual squares, for the squares do not stick together on their own. Each square is created independently, and when the squares come together, they need a binding element; do they not?

When you put a quilt together of many squares, perhaps it is thread, perhaps it is yarn, it does not matter, there is the necessary binding element.

You might say, What is this binding element? I understand the squares, but what is the binding element that brings these squares together?

Beloved One, it is the healing. It is the healing.

It is as -- it is as if the healing is, as you would call, a laminating force that seals the squares together. Each square meets another, healing through their presence, becomes one bigger square. That bigger square meets another square in fluidity, and presence becomes a bigger square.

As each little piece of the fabric of the universal quilt comes together, it is through this healing moment, this recognition, that all interference energy is truly co-created from the same being that is also healing.

Protection and Hurt

When you invite yourself to call forth protection, and we do not wish to say you should not offer yourself this gift, indeed, it is a great practice, and it is a powerful thing to do, however, to believe that you must -- we choose our words carefully -- to believe that you must call forth protection thereby means you are further away from healing.

To know that you are divinely in flow as a protecting force through your harnessed love of divine illuminated energy of the universe is to be the spontaneous healing.

Not only in your own existence. You become the binding substance of your square in the quilt, and all the squares around you find their healing and become one larger square.

Reflect on this, Beloved Ones, for many find great purpose and great need to be protected, carry protection, call forth protection, blame lack of protection. Do you see?

And this is a valuable, valuable gift while one is working through it. So please hear this gift, too.

When your worm hole of Divine universal reconnection, as it is, is moving closer to the universal center of your galactic universe, if you believe you must be protected, then you are vulnerable to be hurt.

And we choose this word very carefully, because you cannot ever be hurt.

The "you" that is existing in this Divine experience cannot ever be hurt, and yet the "you" that believes it must be protected or find protection is the one that is open to the experience of hurt, for that is what hurt is, it is an experience of hurt.

And through the experience of hurt, one will always find the experience of healing when the personalization of a lower form ego is able to simply be released.

Hearing the Heart

We do not say it is a bad or good thing for we feel your energy in response to these words which, in themselves, are limited. So, Beloved Ones, hear our heart now with your heart song. Hear our heart. Within your ears now, feel them filling with a divine vibrational tone, a harmony from the universe that is seeking to pulse into your ears with a great harmonic recognition.

For many of you, this pulsing harmony comes often in the fullness of the ears, a high-pitch tone, a fullness, a melody, a universal connection.

Feel this tone, this call from the universe.
Feel this tone come into thee again, and then you will feel our heart because you are feeling your heart.

We are your heart, as you are ours.

We are one heart.

And all words limit the experience.

All words create the need for greater protection.

All words limit healing, because all words stimulate a mind of density.

And to release the stimulation of the mind of density and to feel the heart of the one universal pulse is to ignite within thyself the greater harmonic recognition of Divine Illuminated perfection.

The Eternal Moment

Indeed, the healing moment is before thee.

This is the moment.

And now this is the moment.

And now this is the moment.

Eternally, the moments weave together.

They are each their own piece of the larger quilt.

Your healing, your recognition, your understanding that interference is a created energy of a mind of density that gains power and strength through the planetary thought body when you choose to align with it, which, indeed, will give it greater power, strength and manifestation than perhaps you would have even co-created in your own mind, another gift indeed, is it not, for it is a great reminder of the power of the planetary thought body.

To heal is to raise through the planetary thought body.

Raise through the planetary thought body by allowing yourself the divine recognition that you are free to fly now. You have ever known this, for this is the healing moment. And so is this moment. And so is this moment. And so is this moment. And so is this moment. And so is this moment, and so is this moment, and so is this moment. And so is this moment.

And so is this moment. And so is this moment.

To say more would limit the moment.

To feel forever is to step into eternity where you connect to the heart of the universe.

Beloved Angels of fluidity, light, healing and recognition, this is the moment.
